October 2009

Dear Jennifer,

The holidays are fast approaching. Now is the time to purchase a table at the PCRW Holiday Luncheon at a discount before October 31st. Make your checks out to PCRW-PAC and send them in today! Please see the details under "2009 Fall & Winter Schedule" by clicking on PCRW Holiday Luncheon.

We had perfect weather and more than 70 Republicans, guys and gals of all ages at the Fall Mixer. Jonathan Neerman and his family joined us and spoke a few words. He has done a great job recruiting judicial candidates for Dallas County and we met several of them at the Mixer. Be sure and sign their petitions to get them on the ballot. If they get enough signatures, the $2,500 filing fee is waived.

Join me as a delegate or guest at the TFRW convention in Galveston November 13-15. Please see the details below. The deadline is approaching.

Greeting the Troops is an uplifting experience that I highly recommend. Natalie Harper and Ericka Salinas are organizing the next one at DFW airport on Saturday, November 7th.

Visit our website at www.parkcitiesrepublicanwomen.org and get up to date information on events and activities. Check out the photo galleries and encourage friends to join and pay dues using pay pal.

I look forward to seeing you at the General Meeting on October 13th at the lovely home of Helen and John Carona. The Senator will be our guest speaker. Invite a friend!

Cindy Clendenen

America's Healthcare Debate: Staying the Course

Jennifer Vermeulen

It's as though August was just a bad dream. In town hall meetings across the nation, lawmakers were confronted by hundreds of thousands of angry voters over the government's attempts at health care "reform." Rallies and protest marches stretched from coast to coast. The August Recess of 2009 was no holiday for congressmen and senators returning home to their constituents. Countless petitions, phone calls, emails, and letters were dispatched to every single representative from the US Congress and Senate. But today it's as if it all had never happened. The Democrats march on undeterred.

This fight is far from over. In the coming weeks actual legislation will be taking shape and will be brought forward for debate, perhaps even a vote. The basic groundwork has already been laid and much remains to be settled behind closed doors before a final draft is presented. Therefore, it remains as important as ever for concerned Americans to stay vigilant. Here are three suggestions for being effectively engaged in this national debate.

Educate yourself. This topic can become overwhelming so quickly, and it takes on new forms and nuances with each day. It can be very tempting to distance oneself from the devilish details if just to keep from drowning in too much information. So allow me to make this suggestion: refresh yourself weekly from a reliable media outlet. Aim only to get a big-picture understanding. Mentally highlight two or three talking points so you are able to converse casually, yet effectively, on the issue. I find online sources to be the most convenient and up-to-date. These sources are also easily shared with family, friends and colleagues, either by word-of-mouth or by links and email.

Equip yourself. Beyond being able to identify the problems with the government's take-over of the health care system, the Conservative must be equipped to provide an alternative. It is not enough that we disagree; we must be able to offer a more reasonable approach to the legitimate concerns of the current state of health care in America. It is for this important reason that Park Cities Republican Women will host a special health care event, Saturday, October 24 at 4:00 pm. We encourage you to join us at this event where you will be equipped with the knowledge and confidence to share the Conservative response to the health care debate.

And finally, you must engage. Steps One and Two will empower you to join with the millions of other Americans who have organized on the grassroots level to take on Washington and their dirty meddling in our health care. However, with knowledge comes responsibility. We have the responsibility to engage in this discussion both as individuals and collectively as an organization. Share your knowledge and perspectives with those close to you. Make sure your voting-age children are educated, equipped, and engaged in the issue. Contact your representatives - or even those who aren't, but who carry clout over this debate - and keep the pressure up. And above all, engage in the democratic process whenever the opportunity presents itself. The freedom to participate in our own representation was brought to this country at a great price. May we always be gratefully and faithfully engaged.
